ADVISORY

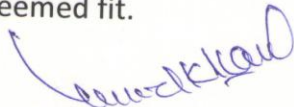

Ref.No. FFV/EU FVO SEPT 2014

Dated : July3, 2014

There have been reports of likelihood of betel leaves becoming the next product to be banned by EU since several rapid alerts have been reported. The prime reason for these rapid alerts appears to be detection of salmonella.

Exporters are hereby cautioned that they must immediately stop export of beetle leaves unless the consignment is tested through APEDA recognized laboratories confirming compliance with EU norms.

Please note that any future interceptions will make the concerned exporters liable for action as deemed fit.
